

Peace*, originally San Francisco Airport, now relocated near Lake Merced

Beniamino Bufano
granite and stainless steel, 27'H
late 1950's or early 1960's

All of these images were photographed by my brother, Doug Miller.

---

Born in Italy in 1898, Beniamino Benvenuto Bufano came to the United States at young age with his family. After studying art in New York City, he eventually moved to San Francisco where he taught both at UC-Berkeley and at the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland. He died in 1970. Peace, one of his most famous works, was located outside the San Francisco Airport for almost 40 years. It was recently moved to make way for a parking garage, but was restored and relocated near Lake Merced.

INDEX

Click here to return to index of art historical sites.

INDEX

Click here to return to index of artists and architects.

INDEX

Click here to return to chronological index.

DIGITAL IMAGING PROJECT--MAS/BC

© 2000 Mary Ann Sullivan. I have photographed (on site), scanned, and manipulated all the images on these pages. Please feel free to use them for personal or educational purposes. (I would appreciate being told if you find them useful.) They are not available for commercial purposes without my explicit permission.

Page maintained by Mary Ann Sullivan, sullivanm@bluffton.edu